

CAMP
Amalinda
A WILDERNESS OF GRANITE
"Matobo Hills - World Heritage Site"

Location:

Camp Amalinda, A Wilderness of Granite, is situated 45 kilometers south of Bulawayo on the Matopos road. The Matopos region has been classified as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is home to the highest concentration of rock art in Southern Africa. Some of the prolific species include the black eagle and rock hyrax.

Access:

Bulawayo is the most convenient location to access the camp and the Bulawayo airport is 60 kilometers away. Our transfer company 'Driving You Wild' can assist in transfers nationwide. Destinations leading into Bulawayo are Harare (439km), Victoria Falls (437 km), Masvingo (298km), Beitbridge on the South African Border (322 km) and Plumtree on the Botswana border (102 km). It is not necessary to travel in a 4 X 4 vehicle.

Accommodation:

The lodges are set within the granite boulders on different levels and each have a distinctive look and feel. There are 9 lodges in total comprising of 3 suites, 3 family rooms (with 2 double beds in each), 2 double rooms and 1 twin room.

Camp Amalinda's lodges all have electric blankets for the winter season. Each room has an en suite bathroom built into the granite rock face, giving a unique accommodation experience. Tea and coffee stations come standard in each room.
